Hi!

Thanks so much for taking the time to download this press kit. Building 40 Below has been a lot of fun, and it's nice to see people finding utility in it. My day job employs people from all over the world, and the number of times that I - someone from the US - has had to try and convert between Fahrenheit and Celsius while chatting with my friends and colleagues about the weather was quite a lot.

I knew there was an app in the simplicity of this problem. Once I got going, though, I also knew I wanted to do it right: a proper iOS and iPad app, a proper Mac app, all built according to the best guidance the HIG has to offer and packed full of as much Apple technology as makes sense.

I'm pretty proud of 40 Below, and I hope you enjoy it. If you need anything or have any questions, don't hesitate to email me: michael@fruitstandsoftware.com

Best,
